

The map displays the Lachen area in Switzerland, with a focus on the distribution of red dots. The dots are concentrated in several clusters: a small group near Lachen, a larger group near Dottenwil, and a significant cluster near Tröstli. The map also shows the Tanna river, various roads, and other settlements like Lachen, Dottenwil, Tröstli, and Neuhausen. The red dots represent data points, likely related to the study of the Lachen area.

(C) OpenStreetMap contributors